These Farmers Are Fighting For Us All: We Are Witnessing A Global Revolt Against The Irrationalism Of The Elites.

This strange, sunny week has provided the best proof yet that the West's elites have taken leave of their senses. That they have fully retreated from reason, and from reality itself. As farmers and workers across the world continue to rise up against the tyrannical consequences of climate-change alarmism, what are the elites doing? Engaging in yet more climate-change alarmism. Wringing their hands over the hot weather and its forewarning, as they see it, of the manmade heat-death of the planet that is apparently just around the corner. They continue to peddle the very politics of eco-dread that is whacking farmers and the working class and storing up problems for us all.

The global warming scam works so well they invented the scamdemic to scare us into taking the depopulation shots. That has worked well for them. I wonder what will be the next scare. I'm betting on space aliens.

Anyone that wants to reduce our ability to grow food has to go, and I mean GO, never to be heard from again.

Nothing is more important to a nation than a guarantee food supply, nothing else come close. The obvious examples of murderous communist thugs, is easy to note, Stalin, Mao, Pol Pot all of them really.

Less remembered is the example of Britain and the experience of severe food shortage caused by wartime restrictions, through no fault of their own. A generation of citizens lived through the effects of poor nutrition and food rationing during their youth. That politicians would gamble with food supplies for no rational reason other than a religious belief in climate alarmism, is tragic. And there are enough seniors around to remind young leaders of their folly, if anyone cares to listen.
